From: The West Virginia State Bar

Date: April 2017

As reported last month, The West Virginia State Bar is currently developing a process giving approved IOLTA Banks the ability to submit remittance files directly onto our secure membership database. Currently banks are required to upload any type of file format on our secure web portal and our IOLTA staff then imports the information into an antiquated IOLTA Tracking system. We are moving away from our current antiquated IOLTA tracking system and so we are excited to announce that the new process will allow your file to go directly into our new IOLTA tracking system.

The development of the new system is moving along nicely and is on schedule to be implemented this summer. More detailed information will be provided in the coming months. We look forward to the utilization of this new system. We believe it will be a vast improvement over our current method of tracking IOLTA remittance data, both for The State Bar and the Participating Financial Institutions.
